

A large, orange, mechanical elephant sculpture is the central focus, moving through a city square. The elephant is decorated with black and white stripes on its legs and trunk. It carries a platform with people on its back. In the background, there is a river, a bridge, and a city with a prominent dome. A red arrow points to the top of the image. A text box in the bottom right corner contains the name "Javier Salinas".