

A large crossword puzzle grid with various words filled in. The grid is surrounded by numerous small images of artworks depicting mothers and children. Each image is accompanied by a small text box containing a clue or definition for a word in the crossword. The words are arranged in a grid pattern, with some words being vertical and others horizontal. The images include various styles of art, from classical to modern, and depict mothers in different settings, such as nursing, holding their children, or sitting with them. The crossword puzzle is the central focus, with the images and clues providing context and hints for the words.